

CONSENT CULTURE

A culture of consent is one where consent is normalized both within our relationships and society at large. It is one where...

People can freely choose to engage in sexual activity

Victims / survivors are believed and sexual violence is taken seriously

Everyday consent is the norm – autonomy, privacy, needs and wants are respected in all interactions

Services for victims / survivors are adequately funded, and there is comprehensive and inclusive sex education

Individuals are empowered to express their needs, wants and desires in regards to sexual activity and they are respected

It means that each person has autonomy over their own body, sexuality, gender expression, gender, sex life, sexual health and more. As we work towards building a culture of consent we must listen to, centre, empower and support people from marginalized communities.
